Subject: Bearing the unbearable

Good day all. We live in a world with so much difficulty to bear, so much pain to bear, so much loss to bear ~ and despite appearances to the contrary, every soul on earth must continually endure this difficulty, this pain and this loss. We look around us and think, "Why have they go it all? Why is life running so smoothly for them?" and yet behind all appearances to the contrary, every soul must face its baptism of fire. This baptism of fire is the burning away of all We are not, so that We can see

Who We Truly Are, without the camouflage of these earthly things, and the camouflage of this earthly body. We are brought to bear to bear the unbearable in a 'disarmament of the mind' that clings to life in this physical world. Yet our ego mind resists this disarmament, and even when we are at the bottom of our bottom, it convinces us to resist the disarmament and we continue to attach to the physical world. For this physical world has us "under its spell" and we have no plans to renounce it, not even for God. And the more we resist, the more we must bear the difficulty of attaching to this world. The more we resist, the more we must bear the pain of attaching to this world. And the more we resist, the more we must bear the loss of attaching to this world. For this is the price we must pay of attaching our self to this physical world ~ and we know that every joy ride has a ticket of entry and a price which must ultimately be paid. Amen. And may you all be blessed in our Father's love and grace.
